

House Expected To Accept Tax Change

Most Important Is Lowering Personal Income Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Belief that the House would accept the Senate's most important change in the revenue bill—an amendment lowering personal income tax exemptions—was expressed today by Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance committee.

George said his information was that many members of the House Ways and Means committee had regarded the amendment favorably when the revenue bill was before them. "At that time," he added, "the treasury was not so strong for it."

Broaden Tax Base
Later, President Roosevelt recommended a broader income tax base and the Senate approved an amendment cutting personal exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons. The treasury estimated the change would pour an extra 303,000,000 into the federal till and require an additional 4,911,000 persons to file income tax returns.

The $3,583,900,000 revenue measure, passed after three days of debate by the Senate yesterday, will be considered by a joint Senate-House conference committee next Wednesday. George predicted that an agreement would be reached in two or three days.

Child Travels Here Alone
"My name is Shirley Ann Shuppert. I am going to Sedalia, Missouri, 604 South Lamine street, phone 121, L. W. Shuppert."

With the above printed on a small tag and worn around her neck, six year old Shirley Ann came to Sedalia alone, from Tulsa, to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shuppert, who have recently come here to reside. She arrived Friday night.

As the little girl stepped from the train her parents were shocked to see her in tears, brought on by the bursting just a few minutes before of a pretty red balloon some one had given her.

Eye Injury To 12 Year Old Boy Saturday

Was Reading Book When Struck By Shot From Afar

The carelessness of some unknown person, who fired a gun of some kind, caused an injury pronounced serious, to the left eye of twelve-year-old Hubert Pohl, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pohl, 1316 South Missouri avenue.

Hubert was sitting on the porch of his home, reading a book, when he was suddenly struck in the eye by what is believed to be shot from an air rifle, a 22 rifle, or pellets from a small shot gun fired some distance away. There was no indication where the objects came from, but one struck the eye, another made a small hole in his cheek.

Taken To Doctors

Police officers were notified and hurriedly went to the home. They rushed Hubert to the Bothwell hospital, and from there to the office of Dr. C. H. Brady, eye specialist. He was treated by Dr. Brady, and officers then took him to the office of Dr. E. C. Snavely, where he was given a serum to prevent tetanus. Dr. Brady was unable to locate any shot under the skin.

The police officers are making an investigation, hoping to find the party who fired the gun. They also want to issue a warning to shooting in the city, because if this is done the guns will be confiscated. Some air guns were taken from some young boys recently and are held at police headquarters.

Ministers To Meet Monday

The Ministerial Alliance of Sedalia will hold its first meeting of the fall in the First Methodist church, Monday, at 10 a. m., with Rev. E. N. Garrett, presiding. Besides the regular business to come before the Alliance will be the election of officers and the appointment of the various committees for 1941-42. It is essential that all members of the Alliance be present.

Important Meeting For Retail Grocers

All members as well as associate members of the Sedalia Independent Retail Grocers Association are urged to be present at Convention Hall Monday (tomorrow) night at 8 o'clock at which time final arrangements will be made for the dance and bingo game which the association is sponsoring and which is to be held Tuesday night, September 9th. A full attendance is desired.

Highway Engineer Issues Warning To School Opening

Nearly a million Missouri boys and girls—the citizens of tomorrow—are answering the call of school bells this month, and the bells, in addition to summoning the pupils, are also sounding a warning for special care on the part of not only the youngsters but motorists as well.

Mr. Carl W. Brown, chief engineer of the Missouri State Highway Department, issued a three-point warning to children, parents and motorists, urging each to do his part in order that the 1941-42 school year may not be marred by traffic accidents or deaths.

Requires Vigilance

"With approximately 50,000 school children riding daily in some 1,700 buses," he said, "it requires constant vigilance on the part of the children, the drivers and the motoring public to prevent accidents to these youngsters. The children can help in this effort by walking to the bus stop on the left side of the road, facing oncoming traffic, and by being on time each morning. They should remain seated while the bus is moving and should keep arms and hands inside at all times. When meeting or leaving the bus, children should always cross in front of the bus—never behind."

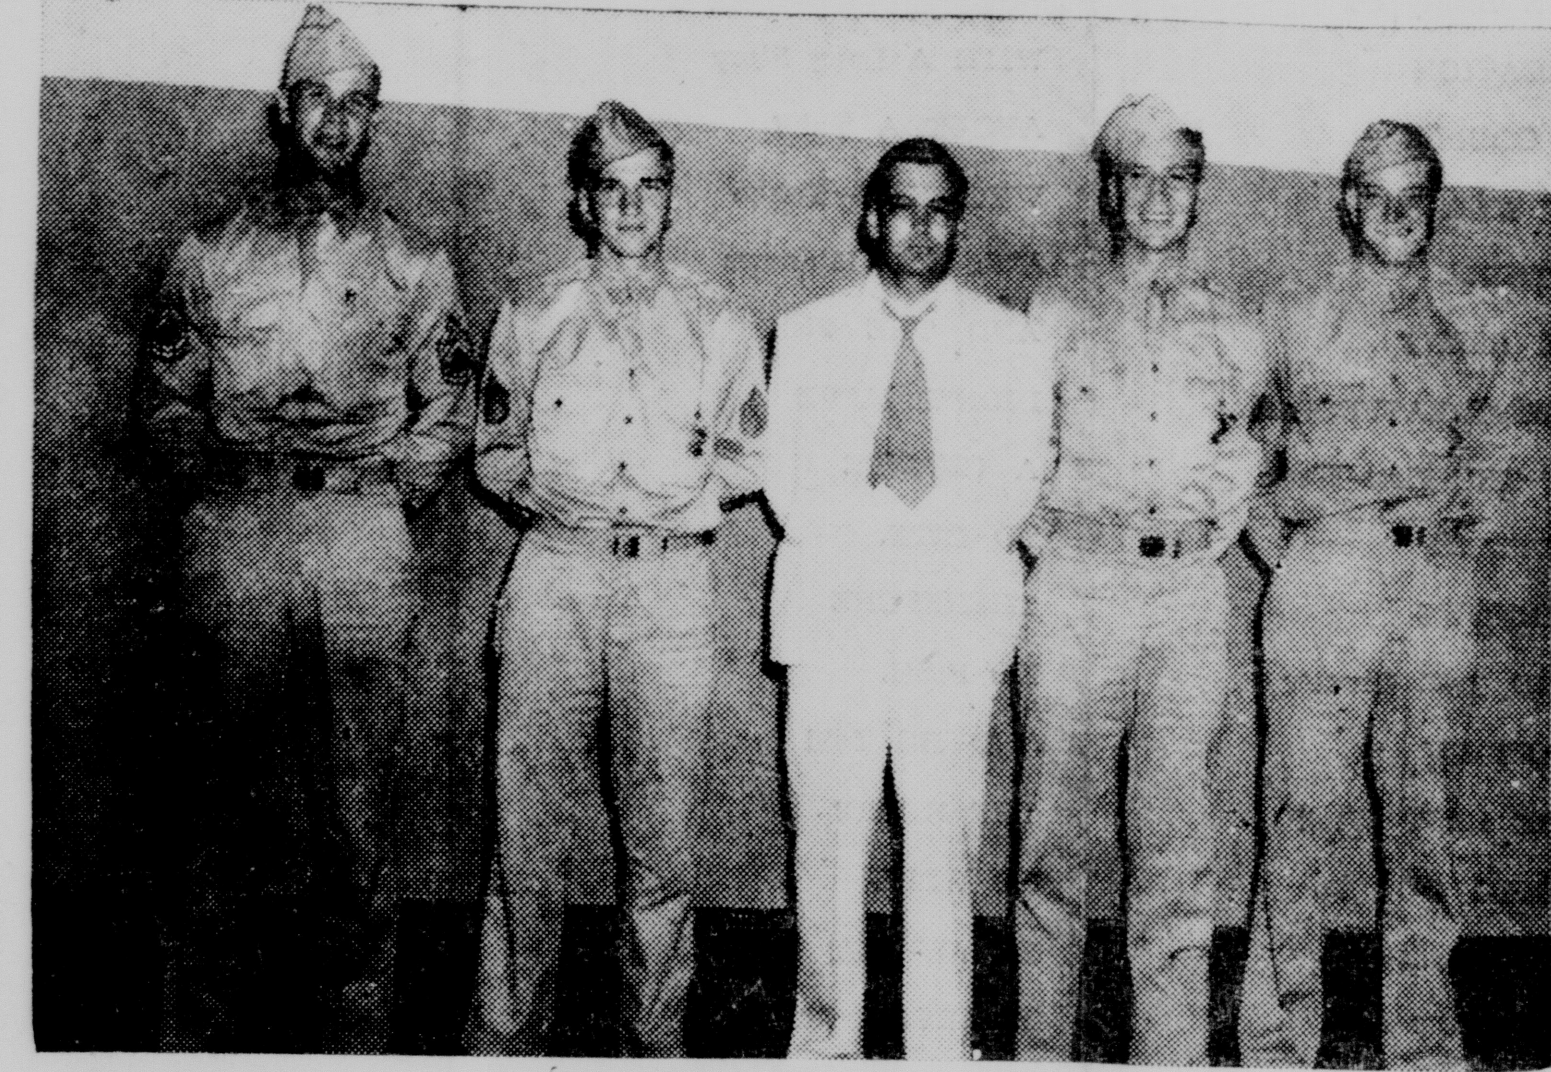

Responsibility Is Parents

Parents have a major share in Missouri's program of school traffic safety, Chief Brown pointed out. They should make it a point to stress careful walking and riding each morning before the children start to school. Children in the roadway or hurrying across highways or street intersections.

Last year 775 school safety patrols operated in the state under rules of the Automobile Club of Missouri, an AAA affiliate, and they again came through with an enviable record of not a single child being killed during school hours at crossings protecting them. The patrols' success illustrates that a state-wide safety program can prevent accidents if everyone will co-operate.

Asks Co-operation
"If everyone will co-operate in observing good safety rules, Missouri will successfully continue its school safety program. But more important, it will mean sparing your home, or someone's home a needless tragedy," Mr. Brown concluded.

They Attended The Party For Soldiers

New Council Elects Dr. May Its President

Purpose Explained By Miss Dugan And Irwin Raut

Dr. Harry S. May was elected president of the Sedalia Welfare Council, formerly referred to as the Coordinating Council, at a meeting held Friday morning, in the YMCA building. Mrs. Paul Zink was elected vice-president and Miss Roseanne Dugan, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Lawson McCurdy and Irwin Raut were elected members at large to serve with the officers on the executive board.

The objectives of the organization were presented by Miss Dugan and Mr. Raut. Miss Dugan said in part:

"The council should be inclusive rather than exclusive; that is, it should aim to include all organized groups with services normally classified in the various fields of social and health activities and should not draw sharp lines in terms either of function or quality of work. Committees of various civic organizations which are appointed to serve in the above named fields should be included."

Should Improve Conditions

"The purpose of the coordinating council should be to bring about improvement in the quality and adequacy of the social and health services of the community and better to relate these services which they carry on and common services they render, the democratic and representative nature of their structure are merely means to that ultimate end. A council does not exist for its own sake. Its effectiveness is judged not by the procedures which it uses, nor even by the common services it renders, but by the influence which these procedures have upon the services rendered to the people of the community."

"Theoretically the council is a

W. O. Stanley, Jr. To Address Rotarians

The Sedalia Rotary club will have as its guest speaker, at the noonday luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Bothwell, William O. Stanley, Jr., professor of education at Madison College, Harrisburg, Pa. He will speak on "The Crisis of Democracy."

His father, W. O. Stanley, is program chairman.

Army Men Have Party

Soldiers on week end leave from Fort Leonard Wood were given a special party by the Sedalia Post No. 16 of the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce last night in the Armory hall.

About 200 non-commissioned officers were served refreshments during the evening, and all of the men were invited to bring "their dates" to the hall to dance to music furnished by a phonograph and loud speaking system.

The program was a "trial" idea by Sedalia officials, and to help keep the soldiers entertained during their week ends. "You folks don't realize how much the fellows appreciate something like this," Master Sergeant S. S. Van Vliet, regimental sergeant major with the 177th Field Artillery shouted over voices clamoring for more sandwiches. "It's great to be able to have some place to come on our leaves, and to have something to look forward to when we get there."

Asks Officers To Locate Women

Mrs. J. C. Orender, 1301 West Broadway has asked the police officers to aid her in locating two women unknown to her, who last Wednesday she said came to her home and persuaded her to purchase what they described as a rare and very expensive Oriental rug, for which she paid $90.

She told police officers that she learned the rug was not a rare Oriental one but an inexpensive rug.

The women came to her home, she said in a 1941 Chevrolet car, on which there was a Kansas license. She gave them a check and officers stated Saturday that it was chased by the women within fifteen minutes.

A pickup order has been put out for them by the police.

Californian Is Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The crown of Miss America of 1941 was placed tonight on the pretty blonde locks of Miss California, Rosemary La Planche, 19, hazel-eyed Los Angeles resident and a runner-up in last year's Atlantic City beauty pageant.

She broke into tears as the award, goal of attractive girls from coast to coast for many months, was made in Convention hall as the climax of a week-long test of 42 beauties for talent, personality and appearance.

Here is the tale of the tape on Miss America of 1941:

Height—5 feet, 5½ inches. Bust—34 inches. Waist—24 inches. Hips—36 inches. Calf—14 inches. Ankle—8 inches. Weight—120 pounds. Age—19. Hair—blonde. Eyes—hazel.

New Uses For Farm Crops To Be Explained

Visitor Here On September 22 To Show Products

Development of scores of new industrial uses for American farm crops as defense production lays heavy claim on standard raw materials is forecast by L. F. Livingston, Du Pont agricultural engineer, who will speak here, September 22 at a meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Red Cross Needs More Workers

A strong appeal is being made by the local Red Cross for more workers in the surgical dressings room at the headquarters, 125½ South Ohio avenue. There also is need for additional knitters to make the little sweaters and "beanies" for the toddlers' packs.

These are tiny, simply-made garments and it is suggested that older children could do a good turn in helping in this work of providing clothes for the small war refugees.

Quantities of material have been received at the Pettis county headquarters. The new war relief quotas consist of the following items to be made: 300 convalescent robes, 240 women's cotton dresses, 330 girls' woolen dresses, 100 bed shirts and 100 operating gowns.

Knitting assignments include 64 men's sweaters 128 women's sweaters, 256 children's sweaters, 80 women's shawls and 70 mufflers.

Each toddler's pack is composed of one knitted sweater, one pair mittens, two pairs rompers 1 snowsuit, 2 undershirts, 2 sleeping garments and 10 diapers. These are for babies from nine months to two years.

December first is the deadline for the shipments of articles in all departments. Items also are being made for the United States army and navy station hospitals.

The first fall class in advance first aid is being conducted by Mrs. Dora McCabe at the YMCA building.

German-American Relations Enter Critical Phase; Berlin Charges U. S. Ship Greer Attacked Nazi U-Boat

Submarine Fired Torpedoes In Self Defense Germans Report

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A German submarine fired two torpedoes at the United States destroyer Greer, a German communiqué acknowledged today, but it declared that the American warship was the aggressor and acted on orders of President Roosevelt who, it alleged, is trying "to incite the American people into war against Germany."

According to the official German version, the destroyer attacked first in Iceland waters the Germans have declared to be inside their blockade zone and the U-boat commander, not knowing the destroyer's nationality, acted justifiably in exercise of the primitive right of self defense.

12 Hours Encounter
The communiqué, issued through DNB, located the opening clash about 200 miles southwest of Iceland and described the encounter as lasting almost 12 hours. Shortly after noon last Thursday, the statement said, the submarine "was attacked," and almost until midnight the destroyer chased the U-boat and dropped depth bombs.

According to the communiqué, two hours and nine minutes elapsed between the time the destroyer attacked at 12:30 p. m. and the U-boat discharged two torpedoes at 2:39 p. m.

German Statement
The German statement concluded:

"If American naval sources, namely the United States navy department, claim that the attack was started by the German U-boat the purpose of such an assertion can only be to give at

Injured On Way To Funeral Here

Enroute to Sedalia to attend the funeral of their son-in-law, Clyde McKinley, Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Orvis of Chicago, were critically injured in an automobile accident near Centralia, Ill. According to word received by Mrs. Edna Orvis McKinley, 1719 South Osage avenue, daughter of the injured couple and wife of Mr. McKinley, a sister and her husband were also hurt.

McKinley died at the Bothwell hospital here Wednesday of injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday near Ottumwa. The funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Mrs. McKinley and her brother-in-law, Sherman McKinley, 521 South Lafayette, left Sedalia Friday for Centralia. It was learned at the Centralia hospital that Mr. Orvis suffered a broken back and chest injuries. Mrs. Orvis received fractures of both collar bones, and lacerations and bruises and her daughter suffered severe head injuries.

The Orvis family formerly resided at 905 East Fifth street in Sedalia.

News Flashes From The War Areas

BERLIN, Sunday, Sept. 7.—(P)—Ten British planes were shot down last night during the course of RAF raids on western Germany, authorized sources said today.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(P)—The British submarine P-33 was given up for lost tonight by the admiralty.

The vessel is "overdue and must be considered lost," an announcement said.

BERLIN, Sunday, Sept. 7.—(P)—Germans reported today that they had penetrated the defenses of Leningrad in at least one place after attacks by strong German air force units and long range artillery bombardment.

War Correspondent Kurt Stolzenberg wrote that "we found a soft place in the defense belt around Leningrad and advanced further."

MOSCOW, Sunday, Sept. 7.—(P)—Soviet Russia reported early today that the Red army fought the invaders along the entire front yesterday.

VICHY, UNOCCUPIED FRANCE, Sept. 6.—(P)—Three French hostages, reported selected from among Communist prisoners of a concentration camp, were executed by a German firing squad at Paris today in reprisal for an attack in which a German sergeant was slightly wounded three days ago.

Unofficial advices reaching Vichy reported that the three Frenchmen were removed from the Drancy camp, near Paris, at dawn, lined up before a wall and shot to death. They were not identified.

Two Injured Near Clinton

CLINTON, Mo., Sept. 6.—(P)—Fred Miles, 54, and J. D. Anderson, 65, both of Springfield, Mo., were in a hospital tonight with injuries they received today when their motor car skidded on wet pavement and hit a culvert, 12 miles south of here.

Both men were made unconscious and were found after the accident by Sam Ball, Clinton oil man. Miles suffered severe bruises and possible fractured ribs and Anderson suffered from shock and a possible broken jaw.

Members of their families came here from Springfield to be with them.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(P)—Former President Herbert Hoover will discuss the international situation Tuesday, September 16, in a CBS broadcast from Chicago, 8:15 to 8:45 (CST).

Survey Begins Here On New Branch Of Federal Work

Howard C. Williams, state director of the Public Work Reserve, is in Sedalia in the interest of the Reserve, which is to be a nation-wide project operating in each state to secure and prepare information, data and estimates to be used in the establishment of a reservoir of useful public projects to absorb post-defense unemployment.

The scope of activity covers four phases:

1. To contact state and local governments, and assist in an early complete listing of public projects which are deemed desirable or needed, to be accompanied by such supporting plans and estimates that are available at the time.

2. To assist the local governmental units in the full development of studies, surveys, designs, and plans for each project listed which represents substantial merit, and in preparing a systematic long-range public program based on actual project needs. This is to the end that every project of merit will ultimately be completely planned and permit the possible telescoping of two or three normal years activity into a shorter period of time if the needs require. This phase of the program, however, will not be entered into until complete listing of projects throughout the state has been made.

3. State and local governments will be encouraged and assisted by the Public Work Reserve in the development of a definite six-year program based on the budget limitations of the local government itself. Local government are encouraged to set up permanently functioning planning board bodies to perpetuate this long-range program. Wherever the various governments indicate their desire to embark upon such a plan, the National Resources Planning Board will make available their techniques and procedures as developed by demonstration studies in long-range public improvement programming, which have recently been undertaken in 7 cities and several of the states.

4. In conjunction with the state and various local governments it is planned to conduct a continuing review and revision of the inventory or shelf of projects and to keep it current at all times. It is also planned to assist various branches of government in the study of current priorities for project operations, in the light of changing times, needs, and availability of more intensive programming.

Mr. Williams is beginning the work in Missouri in Sedalia, and in contacting the branches of government to obtain the information he needs.

Germany Added A Strong Denunciation Of Roosevelt And American Policy

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—German-American relations entered into a new and uglier phase today with the publication of diametrically conflicting claims as to the circumstances under which the U. S. S. Greer and a German submarine engaged in a torpedo and depth-bomb skirmish on Thursday.

Berlin today claimed that the Greer, a destroyer, attacked first, and that the U-boat used its torpedo tubes in self defense. An exactly similar claim was made for the Greer yesterday by President Roosevelt. The submarine fired first, he said, and the Greer dropped depth-bombs in self defense.

To its published claim, Germany added a strong denunciation of President Roosevelt and American policy, which occasioned little surprise here, and for the time being, at least, elicited no official comment. Berlin charged:

Berlin's Charge
That the assertion that the Greer was acting in self-defense "can only be to give at least the appearance of justification to an attack by an American destroyer on a German U-boat."

That it proved President Roosevelt had, contrary to his published statements, issued "general orders to American destroyers not only to report positions of German ships and U-boats but, beyond that, to attack them."

And that "Mr. Roosevelt in this way also is trying with all means at his disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany."

Although State Department and navy officials were silent on the German communiqué, Chairman

President To Speak Monday

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will make a radio address of "major importance" at 8 p. m. (CST) from the White House in Washington next Monday.

William D. Hassett, acting presidential secretary, would not disclose the subject matter of the speech. He did say that it would be of major significance, would last about 15 minutes, and would be translated into some 14 languages for rebroadcast by shortwave throughout the world.

Asked whether the speech was connected with the encounter on Thursday between the U. S. S. destroyer Greer and a submarine in the North Atlantic and a German communiqué dealing with the incident, Hassett replied: "I can't say."

Meeting To Discuss Traffic Situation

There will be a meeting in the office of the Chamber of Commerce, at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, of all persons interested in the Broadway traffic situation.

A movement has been started to attempt to divert the truck traffic from Broadway, which is also highway 50, to the outskirts of the city, and this will be discussed at this meeting, which is an open one, for all interested.

Cross Roads Comment G. H. S.

Too Many Growlers—

It is just possible that there is a little too much growling about progress of our defense effort. A generous amount of constructive criticism is always desirable, but it is false to believe that the loudest complainers always have the public interest at heart.

By nature man is an irascible grumbler no doubt happy in his lamentations. There has always been discontent, always will be. Nearly two hundred years ago, Edmund Burke, English statesman, commented: "To complain of the age we live in, to murmur at the present possessors of power, to lament the past, to conceive extravagant hopes of the future, are the common dispositions of the greatest part of mankind."

World War I had been running along for two years and eight months before we finally got into it. And before we did there was a great deal of quiet but efficient preparation. World War II has been underway but two years, and who can say that our defensive (and offensive) preparations are not away out in front of 1917? What if the boys are training with wooden guns? Hitler built his military might by the same methods—sticks and shovels.

Shakespeare said something about things of the past being best and things of the present, worst. How true it is of today. Yet if we stop to think, there was a lot of squabbling and name-calling back in 1914-17 before we hurried the "note-writing" campaign of that administration. With all our blundering about, the Kaiser menace was subdued. And just so will Hitler be vanquished.

Taxpayers Weary of "Board" Bills—

In line with the above, to be consistent, I should refrain from throwing soft tomatoes at the administration's manner of doing things in the present and past emergencies that have come with clock-like regularity.

The New Deal has suckled itself on the "emergency" technique which we have become used to. President Roosevelt, bless his heart, has prospered in winning the hearts of the people because of his forthright action under each and every strain—real or imaginary. It is depressing, however, to see how he avoids executive problems. Every time one bobs up he appoints another "board." People have become so accustomed to this that they fail to realize that every time it is done there is a "board bill" to pay. The "boarders" have to be fed. They eat at the expense of the taxpayers.

But this is not all that is wrong with appointing boards. There are so many of them now that they get all mixed up, jealously fighting among themselves for power and prestige. These inner circle squabbles have taken precedence over those heretofore directed at the opposition party. And they are likely to prove the undoing of the New Dealers if they persist in such family antagonisms. The brother certainly will be spoiled by too many cooks, none without any final authority about making it edible and nourishing.

Our future progress affecting domestic and foreign problems hinges on abandonment of this mania for appointment of boards composed for the most part of mental crack-pots. The president must turn loose of his desire to "run the works" in its entirety. Sooner or later he must delegate responsibility, without those ever-present strings attached, by placing strong men in highest places of authority and let them function as any good business executive allows his department heads to carry on.

President Roosevelt is suspicious of his best friends. Until he relinquishes this jealous hostility toward those of his own party who are anxious and willing to serve their country there can be little faith developed among the people.

Who's Jittery Now?—

If ever there was a time when the citizens of this nation failed to become excited over a war "incident," it was in connection with the recent submarine attack on the U. S. destroyer Greer.

However, this "incident" did disclose how jittery our national leadership is, how totally ignorant it is of the morale of the folks back home, by issuance of this supposedly comforting but insane caution: "Cool heads in Washington urge that the country be not excited." This coming from the political dancing Dervishes of the capitol, ought to get a great big laugh from the populace.

Of Course It's Appalling—

So long as death and injury in automobile accidents does not strike ourselves or families, we merely indulge in a shudder, an exclamation: "Isn't it terrible," and let it go at that.

Until Missouri has more intelligent control, over its automobile drivers, the state will remain backward in solving its motor vehicle problem. The legislature will do nothing about it until the people become aroused. We fight sickness and disease, shiver at the thought of war casualties, and remain unmoved over the daily slaughter on the highways.

For one thing it is perfectly ridiculous to have a law that requires of anyone over sixteen years of age, payment of 25c for a two-year license to get out on the highway in a bucket of bolts and become a liability to life and property. Before a boy or girl, or man or woman should be entrusted to operate behind the wheel of a potential machine of destruction, they should be made to take a rigid examination before the state highway patrol. Missouri should have a law requiring semi-annual inspection by certified mechanics of every motor vehicle. Missouri should require of every auto owner some sort of liability protection. Missouri should have a definite speed law. Even with all these safeguards it is not a cure-all. But it is a step in the direction of common sense promotion of safeguards.

The Souvenir-Hunting Season

It's always the open season for souvenir hunters.

But that greatest of American indoor and outdoor sports, stalking the elusive souvenir, is on the decline. So, at least, suggests a regional director of the National Park Service. Americans are becoming less souvenir-crazy and more interested sightseers, he says.

Hallelujah! No longer will the stolen hotel towel, the chip surreptitiously knocked off the monument, the pilfered ash tray be the testimonial of a successful vacation. Travel ought to broaden the mind and spirit of the traveler, not merely his shelf of dust-catching knick-knacks.

The Actual Damage From Bombing

To read the stories of the great bombing raids on London, to see the pictures of the roaring fires and crumbling walls gives an impression that most of the city must be leveled. Yet we know that this is not the case.

How much actual damage is being done by these ferocious bombings? The Economist, British financial journal, estimates that damage to British property from German bombings in the first two years of the war comes to $480,000,000. They reached the estimate from the actual figures of an insurance company which found losses to its London holdings had reached 3½ percent.

If this estimate is anywhere near correct (and of course no one can know) the surprising thing about it is that it is not greater. The really great losses of this or any other war are not those which can be measured in dollars.

Looking Backward

• forty years ago . . .

The Sedalia Baseball club will go to Jefferson City this morning on the excursion train that leaves over the Katy at 8 o'clock, and will play a return game with the St. Charles club this afternoon, rain or shine.

The finest grapes seen in Sedalia this season were left at the Democrat office yesterday by city collector Thomas Sheerin, for which thanks are returned.

A two-story barn in the rear of the Sturges Lumber company's yard took fire last night at 7 o'clock and the flames soon spread to the hay and to some sheds with tar roofs adjoining the barn. Both fire companies responded quickly to the alarm, and by prompt action put the fire out before much damage had been done.

The decorations in Elks colors which were being put on the sign above the doors of the Fulton Market restaurant yesterday afternoon caught fire from a cigarette dropped by a painter above. No damage was done other than consuming the decorations.

The South Sedalia Sluggers and Franklins started to play a game of baseball yesterday afternoon, but it broke up in a row and the umpire gave it to the Sluggers by a 9-0 score.

So They Say

Although I spent only a short time in the United States, I was impressed by the enormous quantities of war material now being produced.—Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

We have to explain our institutions to our people so that there is a pride in American life and thought.—Rev. John Walter Houck, Bronx, New York.

It will be a battle of manpower in the end.—General Wavell, new British commander in India.

We can have the necessities of life and all-out defense, too. But we cannot have the luxuries of life and all-out defense, too.—Robert E. McConnell, chief of conservation section, OPM.

No major war really has an economic cause.—Leonard W. Cronkhite, World Peace Foundation.

No one doubts that we'll build a machine big enough to do the job. The question is, will we develop a big enough spirit to do the job.—Stanley High, publicist and writer.

The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Uncensored diplomatic dispatches from Japan reveal that the White House conversations with Admiral Nomura have put Prince Konoye on the spot—not only politically but as a matter of life and death.

Japanese military and civilian groups are so divided over U. S. appeasement proposals that the Black Dragon, a potent society of Buddhist priests and army officers, has actually threatened Prince Konoye with assassination if he accepts the American offer.

On the other hand Japanese merchants, farm leaders, and the middle class in general are demanding that Japan make peace with the United States at all costs. They ask the question: "What chance does Japan have against the United States, Great Britain and Russia all combined?" They point to the fact that Germany has not yet reached one-half the Russian objectives she so confidently expected by September 1; and they ask what help German armies can give Japan from their present position thousands of miles away.

The middle class has also complained that American embargoes against Japanese oil, gasoline, etc., have come close to bankrupting the island empire. Japan is now forced to conserve everything for the army and her ordinary business activity is practically nil.

Therefore, the middle classes urge acceptance of the American proposals, which include lifting of all embargoes, resumption of purchases of Japanese silk, credits to Japan—provided, of course, that Japan withdraws its troops from Indo-China, keeps its fleet at home and withdraws from the axis.

While the middle classes are strong numerically, they are nowhere near as powerful as the little group of Fascist military leaders which really rules Japan today. These leaders have gone so far along the path of the axis that they cannot stop without bringing about the downfall of the entire Japanese military system.

So Konoye knows that when the Black Dragon threatens assassination it really means business.

He has been placed in such a dilemma that after two visits to the emperor he is reported to be seriously considering resigning as prime minister.

"Pappy's" Son-In-Law

Senator Pappy O'Daniel of Texas has already learned the ropes of getting things done in Washington; in fact even before he took the oath of office as senator, Pappy was able to get his prospective son-in-law out of the naval reserve.

O'Daniel's son-in-law, John Devereaux Wrather, Jr., age 23, had the unique experience of getting into the naval reserve on June 9, 1941, and getting out on July 28, a little over a month later. It is not so easy to get into the naval reserve these days, but it is harder to get out.

Young Wrather, however, handled both with considerable ease, was not handicapped by the fact that he had a Pappy who was just elected senator. It is interesting to note, however, that since Pappy had not yet actually taken the oath, it was the office of Texas' other senator, handsome long Tom Connally, who arranged it with the navy.

Reason young Wrather wanted to get out was a naval rule that a man cannot marry until four months after he has entered the naval reserve. Asked if the navy had relaxed its regulations in granting Wrather a discharge, a high navy official replied:

"Not at all. Influence cuts no ice with us. We just figured that a young man who prefers a honeymoon to a commission isn't of officer caliber. Wrather is out of the Navy. We told him to report to his local draft board."

U. S. Observers In Russia

Three weeks ago Secretary of War Stimson called in Russian Ambassador Oumansky and lectured him like a Dutch uncle because Russia would not permit American military attaches to go to the Russian front.

"How can we give Russia real help," asked Stimson, "if we do not know at first hand what your military situation is and what you need most?"

Unpopular Ambassador Oumansky squirmed, got red in the face, explained it was not his fault.

But since then a large number of U. S. military and naval attaches have been flying secretly to Moscow. How close they are getting to the Russian front is not yet definitely known, but at any rate they are leaving for Russia with the understanding that they will get close.

Among those who left for Russia the other day was Ronald H. Allen, a secretary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and now assistant naval attaché in Moscow. Naval Reserve Officer Allen, one of the key men in the RFC, was yanked away from his important loan duties by the navy and rushed by plane to Moscow. RFC officials groaned, wondered why the navy was so shorthanded. Only excuse given by the navy was that Allen spoke Russian.

NOTE: U. S. military officers have been itching to see the Nazi-Russian fighting. For never before has there been an opportunity to see German tanks in action against an adequate foe. In France there was no real fighting against the Nazi mechanized advances. But Russia's stubborn resistance gives an A-1 laboratory test of modern mechanized warfare.

Secret Army-Navy Clash

The forthcoming Detroit hearings of Rep. John Tolan's committee investigating defense labor problems may bring into the open a very hush-hush army-navy secret—a bitter longstanding dispute between the two services over the navy's hogging of strategic war materials.

Ordinarily the army and navy don't air their private differences, but feelings over this issue have become so heated that unless the top brasshats step in and order silencers a lot of very interesting information will come to light about navy interference in priority matters which will hang no medals on the admirals.

It will be disclosed that due to wholly unnecessary navy hogging of steel production, tank output for the army and the lend-lease program has been seriously curtailed.

Also it will be revealed—unless the Tolan committee is censored—that the various navy construction and supply branches have a deliberate policy of secreting statistics on materials they have on hand or on order, so that even OPM, responsible for all defense production, cannot get any accurate data.

It has never been disclosed, but several months ago Navy Under Secretary James Forrestal, concerned about complaints of navy hoarding, attempted to set up a statistical agency within the navy to get the facts.

He persuaded Secretary Frank Knox to issue an order creating the agency. But before Forrestal could get the experts he wanted, the brasshats scuttled the whole plan. Since then OPM has been trying to get some data, but without success. It was even unable to get any figures on the amount of steel, aluminum, copper and other metals that went into the giant new North Carolina.

Tolan has invited both army and navy officials to attend his hearings and if they tangle, a lot of fur should fly. Behind the scenes they have been sputtering at one another for months.

While heartless criminals in other places were bombing churches, these criminals with repentant hearts are building one.—Rev. Morgan J. O'Brien at dedication of convict-built chapel in New York's Dannemora Prison.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exclusively prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend
Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

WHAT PRICE YOUR CHILD'S Vision

You would scoff at the idea of setting a price on your child's vision. And rightly so, because it is beyond price.

Yet, how do you know that that precious vision is safe—that it is not being endangered by strain, by poor lighting and intensive classroom work? There is one way to find out. Have his eyes examined by a competent eye specialist.

Rebekahs To Visit Marshall

Loyal Rebekah Lodge No. 260 held its regular meeting Friday evening at the Woodman-Macabee hall with a large attendance. During the business session three cards were favorably balloted on, also the charter was draped for Brother. E. N. Kauffman, who died recently.

Plans were completed for a visit to a Rebekah meeting to be held at Marshall on Thursday, September 11. Arrangements were discussed for the annual birthday party and 6 o'clock dinner to be held the first Friday in October, at which time all Rebekahs of 260 are expected to attend.

Destructive

During the five years after World War I, European typhus is estimated to have taken 2,000,000 lives in eastern Europe. It is non-existent in the United States except in a milder form.

Destructive Diseases

Only four diseases kill more persons of all ages that do accidents. They are heart disease, cancer, nephritis, and general hemorrhage.

IT MIGHT BE YOU

Many persons are in the early stages of tuberculosis and do not know it. In examining men for the army many cases are discovered for the first time through ordinary examinations and many more would be found if all were X-rayed.

Early symptoms are, loss of weight and increasing weakness, loss of appetite, pleuritic pain and digestive disturbances. Later symptoms are, slight fever, night sweats, cough and expectoration. X-ray pictures provide the earliest definite evidence of the disease though it must be somewhat advanced before the X-ray will reveal it.

If one has any of the symptoms mentioned it is advisable to have an X-ray of the chest at once. If the disease is discovered in its early stages it can nearly always be cured.

Chiropractors provide a great help to such cases by restoring normal nerve and blood supply to the lungs. I have seen advanced cases recover with drugless methods.

Bullets Whine As Camera Clicks In Battle Along Rails

Death's Road—Bullets whined as this photo was snapped at the height of bitter fighting along the vital Smolensk-Moscow railroad. Taking cover behind a flat-car bearing a huge Soviet tank, German soldiers inch forward toward Russians, who Nazi caption said, were pouring a heavy fire from point near the column of smoke in background. Rubble-strewn ground indicates preliminary artillery or bombing attack.

Hot-Spot—Fiercely exposed as his leap silhouettes him against the flame-lift sky, a German soldier jumps down from the flat car.

Mop-Up—Having cleared out a Soviet strong point along Smolensk-Moscow railroad, German soldiers press on through smoke and flames of blazing freight cars to mop up what Nazi caption-censor described as Russians' "last-ditch individual resistance."

Morgan County To Have Fair

VERSAILLES, Sept. 6—The Morgan county fair board has completed all arrangements for the fourth annual event and announces that everything is in readiness for the opening day, September 24.

Exhibits in all departments this year will be limited to residents of Morgan county. This ruling will apply with exception to the fine horse show which will be held at the soft ball field Thursday and Friday nights, September 25 and 26.

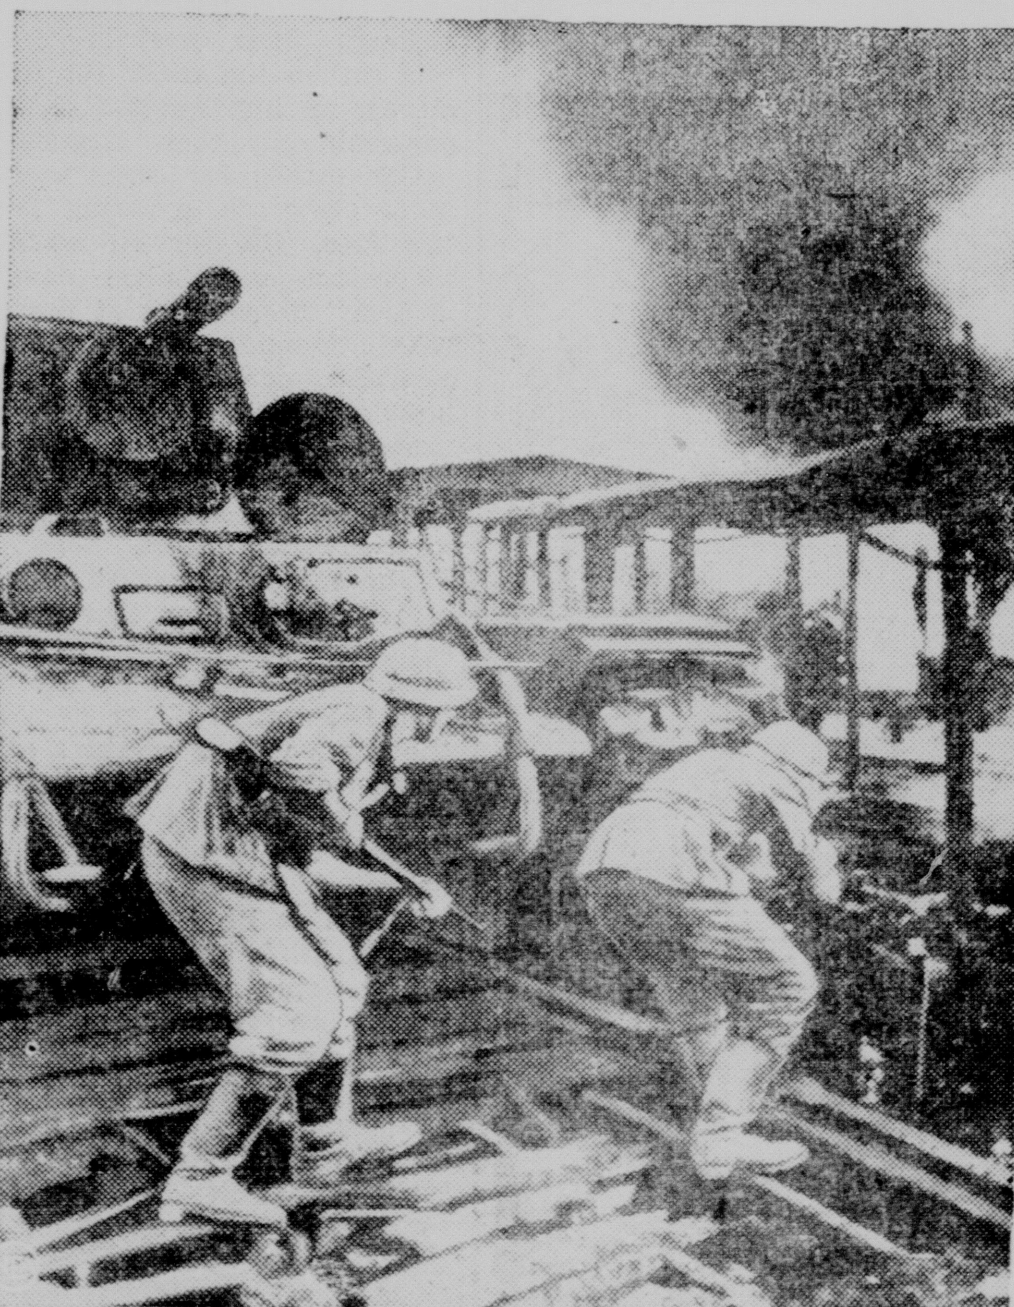

Novelty acts will be presented twice on the north court house daily. School bands from Eldon, Stover and Versailles will provide fair music. Bish Eickhoff and his concert band will furnish the music for the horse show Thursday and Friday nights.

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA.—Chemical warfare officers have a healthy respect for the army mule.

The use of training gases in the giant war maneuvers in the area of south Arkansas, west Louisiana and east Texas has shown again that army mules and cavalry horses take mule readily to gas defenses than do soldiers.

"The army mule and cavalry horse have enough sense to keep their mouths shut when gas has been laid down," snap weary chemical warfare men in explanation.

Toxic lachrymatory gases rarely bother the war animals. The horse and mule breathe only through their nostrils—and for this reason the mask for them is merely an impregnated cloth bag, covering only their nostrils.

Gas masks for men must be more elaborate, covering the entire face. The service mask is a marvelous mechanism developed in army laboratories at the Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland. It provides protection against the known war gases because air is drawn through a canister, containing filters, through a carrier, and into the nostrils through an air-tight face piece.

There is a chemical filter and a mechanical filter. The mechanical filter strains the air clear of dust and toxic smokes. The chemical filter neutralizes or absorbs the gases with a mixture of activated charcoal and soda-lime. The life of the canister in continuous use is approximately 120 hours.

Mask Can Be Used In 87 Different Ways

The three parts of the service mask are interchangeable, and also there are special devices for special uses. Altogether, a soldier can make 87 different combinations in his mask to meet various types of attack or for special needs—quite like a young lady shifting her wardrobe to fit various social events.

A special diaphragm can be screwed into the mouth-piece, permitting a signal corps soldier to continue to talk over an army field telephone even during a gas attack. Special lens can be screwed into the eye-pieces, permitting a soldier on an observation post to continue to look through his binoculars.

Intensive training is given in chemical warfare defense because the war analysts have found that 33 per cent of the American doughboy casualties in the past world war were caused by gas.

Gas is considered a strictly stalemate weapon. Chemical warfare officers account for the fact that no reports have been heard of gas use in the current European war by explaining that fighting so far has been moving combat. They believe that the moment the war becomes a giant battle of positions and a deadlock seems to have been reached, gas will be brought into play.

Soldiers in the field are taught how to protect themselves, given demonstrations on how to make their shelters or dugouts near gas-proof by stopping cracks and putting chemically impregnated blankets over the doors. Tests are given a special gas-proof uniform, which covers the entire body and protects against vesicants.

However, the gas-proof clothing is still some distance from perfection—it is very heavy and cumbersome and is practically air-tight because it is also chemically impregnated. The body "breathes" also to a certain extent and a soldier can't wear the gas-proof uniform more than half an hour at a time, particularly in strenuous exercise.

St. Louis Cardinals Drop Two Games Behind Dodgers In 2-0 Shutout Game With Cincinnati

Vander Meer's Arm Puts Red Birds Up Against Stone Wall As Pennant Slips

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Cardinals didn't have a chance against Johnny Vander Meer's two-hit pitching today as they dropped a 2 to 0 decision to Cincinnati and fell two full games behind "dem bums" from Brooklyn.

The shutout burned a big hole in the Cardinal pennant hopes as the Dodgers sailed further into the lead with a 4 to 1 victory over the Giants.

Only a single by Johnny Hopp in the first inning and a double by Martin Marion in the fifth robbed Vander Meer, the only major league pitcher ever to hurl two successive hitless games, of his third no-hit performance.

Three Short Off Dean's Record

He struck out 14 Cardinal batters with his blazing fast ball and crackling curves, only three short of the National League record set by Dizzy Dean against the Chicago Cubs in 1933. The major league strikeout record is 18 by Bobby Feller.

An error by Walker Cooper, the Cards' rookie catcher, set up the first Cincinnati score in the fourth inning and Harry Craft broke up the southpaw pitchers' duel between Vandy and Ernie White with his 10th home run of the season in the ninth.

Lombardi Scores Off Gleason

Ernie Lombardi opened the fourth with a single, the first hit off White. Frank McCormick, the next batter, cut a foul over the plate but Cooper muffed the catch and on the next pitch McCormick lined a single to left field, Lombardi stopping at second. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Lombardi scored on Jim Gleason's long fly to Hopp in left center.

Marion was the only Cardinal runner to reach third base and the Birds never were a threat after the fifth.

Deadline Flashes.....

Frank Kovacs, the tall young man from Oakland, Calif., who has been called the country's next super-tennis star, looked like that might be more than a rumor yesterday as he crushed Don McNeill, the defending champion, 6-4, 6-2, 10-8, in the semi-finals of the national tennis championships at Forest Hills.

The 21-year-old Kovacs impressed a near-capacity crowd of 12,000 with his brilliant performance and established himself a solid favorite to defeat Bobby Riggs of Clinton, S. C., in their final duel today.

Riggs, the steady, brainy little competitor who was champion in 1939, was forced to the absolute limit in turning back Ted Schroeder, 20-year-old Stanford University undergraduate, in their semi-final. The marathon scores were 6-4, 6-4, 1-6, 9-11, 7-5.

Alsab, biggest bargain in horse flesh in ten years, won his fifth successive stake yesterday—increasing his earnings as the nation's leading money winning juvenile to $72,180.

The phenomenal colt, purchased for only $700 a year ago by Albert Sabath, Chicago attorney, galloped to an impressive victory in the $5,000-added Prairie State Stake, closing the highly successful 32-day meeting at Washington Park. The victory was worth $4,110 to Alsab's owner.

Aiming to strengthen their backstop department for 1942, the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday purchased Catcher Vinnie Smith from Memphis of the Southern association for undisclosed cash and a player to be agreed upon later. Smith, 24, of Greenville, N. C., batted above .300 in mid-season and is now hitting about .290.

Fifty-six football officials in the Missouri Valley area sweated in workout with the Rockhurst college football players yesterday after thundering through a 50-yard sprint.

Much of the second day in the three-day gathering of the mid-west sports authorities was spent in discussing rules changes with the class room work suspended in mid-afternoon for physical tests for the whistle tooters, of which the sprint was one. The arbiters later officiated a practice game of the Rockhurst squad.

Browns Split Doubleheader With Chicago

White Sox Win 2nd Game After St. Louis Takes Shutout

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox came back to capture the second game of a doubleheader today, 7 to 1, after dropping the decision to the St. Louis Browns in the opener, 3 to 0.

The Browns' victory in the first game was their seventh straight over the White Sox. The split dropped the Sox into third place, a half game back of Boston.

Muncie's smothered the Sox with five singles in the opener, allowing only one runner to second and none past that mark, while three loop holes in the Chicago defense handicapped Lefty Thorn Lee, who got his tenth defeat instead of his 10th victory.

A revised White Sox lineup ganged on George Caster for six runs in the first inning of the second game, all eight men who went to bat offically during the frame hitting safely. A homer by Bob Kennedy and doubles by Taft Wright and Luke Appling featured the big inning.

Given this big edge, Johnny Rigney pitched shutout ball until the ninth, when Johnny Berardino's triple and a wild pitch gave the Browns their lone run. It was Rigney's 12th victory.

Davis Keeps New Yorkers Down To 9 Hits As Brooklyn Takes 4-1 Victory

BROOKLYN, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who under-rated the New York Giants last Saturday and dropped a doubleheader to their cross-town rivals, made no mistake today—blasting out a 4 to 1 victory that kept them on top of the National League.

Curt Davis produced another fine pitching performance to add to his recent string, holding the giants to nine scattered hits, and received potent support from Dolph Camilli and Pete Reiser.

Camilli Makes 30th.
Brooklyn made only seven safeties off three New York pitchers, but Camilli collected his 30th home run of the season to start the Dodgers in the right direction and Reiser supplied a double and a triple.

Manager Leo Durocher installed himself at shortstop for the game, to rest the light-hitting Peeewe Reese, and used Lew Riggs and Jim Waddell in place of Cookie Lacagetto, and Joe Medwick to obtain additional left-handed hitting strength to oppose the giants' starting hurler, Bill McGee.

The strategy proved effective to the delight of the 17,000 Flatbush fans.

Singles For Riggs, Waddell
After Camilli's homer in the second Riggs and Waddell hit successive singles and Riggs scored when Johnny Rucker muffed Durocher's fly.

In the sixth Bill Herman drew a base on balls and scored on Reiser's double and in the eighth, after Ace Adams had taken over the giants' pitching chore, Reiser tripled and scored on a single by Camilli.

The sixth threatened to become a real outburst, but spectacular catches by Rucker and Mel Ott, with their backs against the outfield wall, robbed Riggs and Waddell of extra base hits and prevented additional scoring then.

Coaches... coaches... coaches! There are four (count 'em) of them working on the material that will form the 1941 Smith-Cotton football team, and all four are tops in the business, having had experience at some of Missouri's best team-producing schools during past years. It's one of the youngest training staffs that S.-C. has had for many a year, too. The ages range from below 25 to not more than 30 years.

Head Coach Jimmy Obermiller is utilizing his assistants on the parts of the game they know best. Robert Rogers and Ralph Dow are handling the line work, and P. A. Sillers is helping Obermiller with the backfield.

Rogers came to Smith-Cotton from Hardin, Mo., where he coached football and basketball last year. Sillers coached football, basketball and track at Hardin for 8 years and at Butler last year. Dow, a native Sedalia, has coached football, basketball and baseball at Marceline, Mo., for four years.

Obermiller took over the football reins this year after assisting Joe Benson, now principal of the high school last season, and has already proved that he knows football clear over the goal.

He has started the 1941 prospects out with the fundamentals of the game and has gradually led them through the ropes, teaching them the finer points as they go, and has managed to keep their enthusiasm going full blast all the while. Tom "Dolly" Farris, "handyman" around the school teams for the past five years, is taking care of the bruises and other minor injuries of the boys during their workouts, and has managed to keep the B team in fine physical shape.

With such a complete coaching staff and with a record high of 85 boys out for football this year, Smith-Cotton should produce one of Missouri's first ranking teams.

The Missouri Valley Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, U.S.A., will hold its twelfth annual meeting at the Hotel Continental in Kansas City on October 5, it was announced yesterday by A. A. U. officials at the A. A. U. Western Missouri and Kansas headquarters in Kansas City. New officers will be elected for the 1941-42 term and new committee appointments made. Proposed amendments to the rules, applications for new records, 1942 Association and National championships and applications for reinstatements will be received during the session.

Gordon M. Strain, 1323 East Broadway, is a commissioner of the association. Strain is also committee member of the weight-lifting contests, and stated that a contest is scheduled for the same day as the annual meeting. It will probably be postponed, however, in order that there will be no conflicting gathering with the session.

After one of the busiest weekends for Sedalia sports fans of the season last week, games and contests slowed down to a lull before the final closing spurt of the baseball season and the opening of the football season. The Junior Legion team and the Sedalia Ramblers have no games scheduled for the week, and the Motorcycle club also is idle. The Merchants play the Glasgow Co-ops this afternoon on the Glasgow diamond. Most baseball fans in this vicinity will join the special excursion to St. Louis today to see the doubleheader between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds. The excursions, which are sponsored by Roy "Dutch" Kirchofer, manager of the Pacific cafe, have proved popular with Sedalians, who are guaranteed the best reserved seats right behind the Cardinal dugout for the game. Some unknown culprit stole the "refreshments" carried for the benefit of the Sedalians on the homeward trip on the last excursion, and "Dutch" said that a special guard would be placed over them this time to see that they didn't "walk off."

"Dutch" said he couldn't stand hearing another groan like the one that went up from the Sedalians when they discovered that the much-looked-forward-to refreshments had vanished.

mer in the Texas League pennant race.

Worked In Gas Station
Howard is just a boy, but all the evidence is he has what it takes. He's French stock from New Orleans. His father died in 1936, leaving his mother with 3 sons and one daughter. Howard worked in a gas station in the evenings while attending high school, pitching for the team and for the Papoose American League junior champs.

The minor league convention convened at New Orleans in December, 1938, and Eddie Dyer, Houston manager, signed up the New Orleans schoolboy southpaw sensation for the Buffs. After figuring in 11 Texas League games, Howard went off on option to New Iberia, La., in the Evangeline League. He won 14 against 5 defeats, had many shutouts as defeats, fanned 212 batters in 163 innings. The strike-out king, Walt Navie, of Rayne, had 223 in 278.

In the playoffs that fall Howard whirled quite a contest against Lafayette, a 5-hitter in which he fanned 13. In each of the first 6 innings he struck out 2 batters. The only hit off him in this stretch was a bunt.

One Point Below Leader
His 12-straight winning streak at the start of '40 stood as the longest victory-string in the Texas League all year. A 2-1 defeat broke the streak, both opposing runs unearned. He won 20 and lost 7 for the season, his percentage of .742 one point below the leader, Morry Newlin, of San Antonio, who won 23 and lost 8. Pollet had 5 shutouts, one a 2-hitter at Tulsa and another 2-hitter against Oklahoma City in which he fanned 12. In a play-off game he relieved Hank Nowak in the first inning, held the Beaumont Exporters to 1 hit the rest of the way.

The day Howard debuted as a Card ace, the top 12 in the National League batting averages were lefthanded hitters. Scouts for National League clubs this summer pinned their sharpest eyes on southpaw pitchers. Every club is hunting pitchers. Because the key hitters of the league are lefties, a left hand pitcher means more this year,

HAPPY

Here's a picture of sunshine. But, many children are far from smiling examples of contentment. Poor vision handicaps them; makes them feel inferior. They draw into themselves; become poor mixers; are shy; lacking in self-confidence.

Be sure that poor vision is not handicapping your youngsters in schooling and character development. Be sure their sight is right. Have it examined—now.

Engagements Of Well Known Sedalia Girls Announced

Miss Lierman To Marry R. L. Dawson

Miss Stevens
And Thomas
Cooper Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lierman announce the engagement of their daughter, Leah Jean, to Mr. R. L. Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dawson, of St. Joseph, Mo. The marriage will take place September 26.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stevens, of Sedalia, Rt. 2, announce the engagement of their daughter, Esther Nell to Mr. Thomas S. Cooper, son of Mrs. R. O. Smith, 417 West Seventh street. The marriage will take place in October.

Miss Vivian Cruce Hedlund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hedlund, of Warrensburg, became the bride of Mr. Thomas Hayes Van Hoozer, of Sedalia, in a ceremony read by the Rev. V. T. Wood, pastor of the Christian church in Warrensburg at the home of the bride's parents. Witnessing the ceremony were only the immediate families and a few close friends.

Miss Kathleen Johnston played a program of music during the arrival of the guests, including "Libetraum by Liszt, Intermezzo, To the Evening Star, from Tanheuser by Wagner, and immediately preceding the ceremony. The Bridal Chorus from the Introduction to the Third Act of Lohengrin."

Miss Patsy Magee and Miss Helen Johnston lighted the candles at the improvised altar in a setting of ferns, palms and pastel shades of gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a costume suit of blue wool with brown accessories and a corsage of white orchids. For the "something old," she wore a strand of pearls that had been a gift from her great aunt, Miss Elizabeth LaRose. Her only attendant was Miss Liza Alexander of Jefferson City, who wore an ensemble of beige wool and a corsage of Talisman roses. Abe Silverman of Sedalia, was best man for Mr. Van Hoozer.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home, at which Mr. and Mrs. Hedlund were assisted by the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Van Hoozer, of St. Joseph. A three-tiered white wedding cake, beautifully decorated, with white roses and silver leaves topped with a miniature bride and groom and encircled with smilax and white roses, formed the centerpiece for the table in a setting of lace. The cake was flanked on either side with white lighted tapers in crystal holders.

The bride is a graduate of the Warrensburg State Teachers' college, having received her degree at the close of the spring quarter, 1941. Mr. Van Hoozer attended Central college at Fayette for four years, and for the past year and a half has been employed by the Retail Credit company, of Kansas City, located at Sedalia. After a week's trip in the south, the couple will be at home in Sedalia.

A quiet wedding will be solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning by the Rev. O. J. Rumpf, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed church at the church parsonage, when Miss Jean Evelyn Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Snyder, of 812 West Fourth street, is married to Mr. Paul F. Hausam, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hausam, of Rt. 4. Attending will be only members of the immediate families, and the bridesmaid, the best man and the latter's wife.

Miss Snyder's bridesmaid will be Miss Mary Frances Smith and Mr. Hausam will be attended by Leonard Ehlers, of Jefferson City, is his best man.

The bride will wear a light ivory blue dress with black accessories and hat, and a corsage of red roses and gardenias. Miss Smith's dress will be powder blue with navy accessories, and her corsage of pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple will leave for an automobile trip to Colorado, to be gone about a week, and upon their return will live at 1407 South Sneed avenue, where they have their home completely furnished. The bride and bridegroom were born and reared in Sedalia. Miss Snyder graduated from Smith-Cotton high school with the 1941 class, and since has been employed by Dr. Floyd Lively, optometrist.

Mr. Hausam graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1936, attended Central Business college, and is now vice-president and buyer for the Midwest Auto stores.

Miss Geraldine Frances Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Tyler of Mexico, Mo., became the bride of Edmund E. Robb, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Robb of Mexico, in a ceremony performed there Saturday morning, August 30, at 10 o'clock in the St. Brendan's Catholic church parish house. The service was read by the Rev. Father P. D. Gavan in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hammack of Sedalia, and formerly resided here. Her friends will remember her as "Jere" Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Robb, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the couple's only attendants.

The bride wore a frock of poudre blue sheer wool crepe with tight fitting bodice and full skirt, and duobonnet accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of white rosebuds. The bridesmaid's dress was of golden sherry crepe with military tan accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple was honored at a breakfast at the Tyler home, 621 South Olive street. The table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom and surrounded by a wreath of ferns intermingled with pink rosebuds. Lighted white tapers in crystal holders completed the setting.

Mrs. Edmund Burke, talented Mexico pianist and composer, entertained the guests by playing "Ave Maria" and a group of her own compositions. Mrs. Burke is an aunt of the bridegroom.

Guests present at the wedding and breakfast were the parents of the bride, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hammack of Sedalia; her aunt, Mrs. Loyce Lasley of Kansas City; Mrs. Julius Miller of Moberly, and Mrs. Burke.

Mrs. Robb, who is society editor of the Mexico Daily News and Intelligence, attended the Mexico high school, and Culver-Stockton college at Canton, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. She attended Broadway grade school in Sedalia.

Mr. Robb graduated from St. Brendan's Parochial school in Mexico and is associated with the A. P. Green Fire Brick company. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Robb will reside at 603 McFarland, Mexico.

Mrs. Raymond Kirchoff was honored at a shower given at her home in Concordia Tuesday afternoon September 2 by her sister, Mrs. Levi Alexander and Mrs. Hugo Wehrs, of Emma. Mrs. Kirchoff was formerly Mrs. Sadie Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Deanna Durbin appears very much the young matron in dress, left, that looks like a suit. Of Harvest Gold wool, the collarless jacket has two pin-tucked pockets high on the bodice—the simple one-piece dress beneath has a slightly flared skirt. With it Deanna wears sabres, brown suede bag, gloves and shoes and a matching gold felt hat with a peaked crown of red, blue and gold feather wings. For sports on nippy days, Deanna Durbin chooses suede slacks, right, in a deep lime green with a lighter lime green classic shirt. The shirt is outlined in stitching which is also found on the slacks' slash pockets and front and back trouser crease. Her tiny hat is matching suede with a tall quill.

J. R. Stanton, of 1620 South Brown avenue, Sedalia.

Mrs. Kirchoff received many lovely gifts.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Raymond Koch, Mrs. Delmar Schelp, Mrs. Homer Dierkin, Mrs. Albert Heaper, Mrs. Hugo Schelp, Mrs. William Sass, Mrs. Harvey Ochlschlaeger and two sons, Mrs. Bertha Dierking, Mrs. Herbert Dierking, all of Emma, Miss Mildred Roepe and Mrs. Ernest Mieser and baby of Concordia

"We've Got It Licked"

Five Tanks Daily Move Off Triple Assembly Lines, A Month Ahead Of Schedule, In Vast Plant That Was A Corn Field One Year Ago

Medium tanks like that above are clanking off three new assembly lines at the Chrysler Corp.'s Detroit plant at the remarkable rate of five a day—way ahead of schedule. By winter the figure will be 15 a day.

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, Michigan.—Whether the Yanks are coming is still a matter of acrid debate, but be sure of this: the tanks are coming.

Most newspaper stories don't have a sequel, or the sequel remains untold. But here is a sequel to the story told last January to Milton Bronner, NEA Service-Sedalia Capital staff correspondent, by Edward J. Hunt, of Chrysler.

Hunt, standing amid the gaunt structure of the half-finished Chrysler tank plant, with only a wooden mockup of the tank that was to be, said: "Five tanks a day by early fall."

Today Hunt stood at one end of the vast five-block-long tank plant and watched medium 30-ton tanks come slowly clanking and lumbering down three parallel assembly lines. It isn't fall yet, and at least five of these monsters roar off the end of those lines every day under their own power, guns emplaced and begin the 75 miles of testing they get before being shipped off to American camps.

"We've got it licked," says Hunt proudly. Installation of further machines in addition to the 1,000 brand new ones now clanking and shearing and punching and riveting in the plant, polishing of processes and addition of another 4,000 men to the 6,000 now at work, will step up that production this winter to 15 a day. Today, 120 a month; this finer, 360 a month, from this one Chrysler plant which was a corn field 11 months ago. And this medium tank is also being built by American Locomotive, Pullman and Pressed Steel Car, with Lima Locomotive coming into production in the later fall. The tanks are really coming.

Schedule Has Been Far Surpassed

Here's how the sequel worked out since January:

They talked then of 25-ton tanks. These are better than 30.

They talked of 5,000 men. Six thousand are already working, and 250 a day are being hired, looking toward 10,000.

They talked of actual tanks by early fall. Already the tanks have been rolling off the lines for several weeks.

Incidentally, the Army is tightening up all the time on information about its new developments. There are new things in the making, but the nearest you get to it is in hints like Chrysler President K. T. Keller's: "A little while ago our engineers designed a new type of animal running on four tires that is really phenomenal, and we are very much gratified to see how well it went through its preliminary tests. I believe you are about to see quite a change in the appearance of some of the vehicles that are going to be used in this war."

How about heavy tanks—the 75-ton monsters which have been seen to some extent in Europe? Try to find out. Ordinance officers are coy on the subject. What you get is guarded words like: "We aren't sure that those big, clumsy, slow things are what's wanted. The speed of the modern blitz leaves them behind. They sound attractive to the uninformed, but their practical value is sharply questioned. What's needed now is these mediums—and we're getting them."

Team-Work In Building Bombers
The automobile industry is gradually swinging in on the airplane problem, too. In another vast new plant with 635,000 feet of floor space, Chrysler is also beginning installation of machinery to build the nose and center sections of Martin medium bombers, which will "be faster than most of the pursuit ships now being used in Europe."

The complexity of this construction is suggested by the fact that 11,500 separate parts are required for this section, 33 feet long, which will be built and assembled complete with instruments and radio equipment in this Detroit plant. Meanwhile Goodyear will be building the wings and Hudson will be building the tail assembly. To a new Martin plant now being built at Omaha, each will send the completed sections. There they will be put together, two 1,800-horsepower motors and guns installed, then flown from Omaha to destination.

That's the kind of team work necessary for mass production of bombers so badly needed. When will these start to come? They're not saying—judging from the state of the plants, one could guess: not until after the first of the year, probably spring. But they will come fast then.

Bofors Guns Are Made From Sample

The manufacture of Bofors anti-aircraft guns at Chrysler is another typical example of the adaptability of American industry to defense production. Chrysler, of course, had no experience in the first World war, having been formed afterward. The Bofors guns they are new making were built from a sample which the Army simply brought into the plant from Canada and said, "Make like this."

The mechanics had never seen one. First job was to take it apart and study every one of the 500 parts of the clock-like mechanism. Then drawings had to be made of them. Of course the Bofors, being Swedish in origin, had its every dimension scaled in the metric system. To make drawings intelligible to American workmen, every dimension had to be translated into American standard measurements. It took six weeks just to do that, and that is regarded as a phenomenal performance. So you can see where time goes.

Also it required 70 machines just to make the gun barrel alone. Four hundred of the machines in the gun plant were adapted from existing machinery in the auto plants, and moved in from there. But another two million dollars' worth of machinery had to be bought, some of its specially designed. These 40-mm. anti-aircraft guns, pilot models of which were mounted by Firestone are under test, are regarded as already greatly improved over the Bofors-British-Canadian gun, and will be in production at what used to be Ford's old Highland Park plant as soon as field tests of the pilot models are completed.

Modestly, almost apologetically, in the midst of these impressive demonstrations of military productions, Detroit auto builders are introducing the 1942 model cars of which neither they nor anybody else yet knows how many will ever be produced. "The defense stuff comes first," says Keller, and they all agree.

How They Were Named

The first trunks were hollowed out of logs, and our word for trunk comes from the Latin "truncus," meaning the trunk of a tree.

Most Patents

More than half of the patents issued in the United States during 1931 went to citizens in California, Illinois, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

According to the latest calculations, the sun averages about 92,870,000 miles from the earth.

Small Army Unit

A section is the second smallest war strength unit in the United States army. Consisting of 20 to 25 men, it is commanded by a sergeant.

Variety Of Flora

It is said that the thermal belt of Polk county, N. C., has a greater variety of plant life than any other section in the United States.

Onions Taboo

An ordinance passed in Waterloo, Neb., in 1910, reads: "It shall be illegal for any barber in this town to eat onions between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m."

Want-Ad Romance

CHAPTER XI

TED: Please let us hear from you. Worried. Kay.

KAY danced down the dock to the canoe. Joe and Mary were to be married! Tomorrow, maybe. If Ted—she could make it a double wedding—

Ted should be waiting for her. She had promised herself this last moonlight canoe trip, planning an ideal setting for his proposal. There had been other opportunities, she recalled, but Ted had evaded them. That last night in the plant—she was sure he intended asking her then, but she had wanted a more romantic setting.

She wondered when Joe had asked Mary. That first night at the lake, or at the dance. She decided it must have been at the dance. Mary had adored Joe ever since he came to the factory, she had confessed, but she was willing to turn him in as a spy. Kay wondered if she would have possessed such courage.

And Joe, dear old Joe. If she had had a brother, Kay would have wanted him to be just like Joe Benton. Big, successful, understanding. She owed everything to Joe. If he hadn't spilled that acid, they might never have known all about Wondrosoap.

Where was Ted? Surely he wouldn't break their last date at the lake. He might have been delayed in town, getting the car serviced for the trip home. She would wait.

FLYNN called her outside early the next morning. "Just what did you say to that boy last night, Kay?" he demanded, almost sternly. "You've been leading him on, making him think he had a chance. There was no cause to hurt him that much."

"What are you talking about, Mike? I didn't see Ted last night. I waited on the dock until after midnight. He didn't show up. He's the one who will do the apologizing."

"You didn't see him?" Flynn was bewildered. "He stormed in the house about 10, packed his things and left before I knew what he was doing. He seemed sore about something."

"He's gone? He didn't say goodby?" Kay could hardly believe it. Not Ted. He couldn't leave her like this. Without a word of explanation. Without asking her—

The final blow came later. A couple of youngsters, swimming near the diving raft, saw a gleam of shining metal under water. But the treasure they retrieved was not the gold they had imagined, but a shining doorknob.

Kay heard them yelling outside the cottage, ran out to see for herself. She recognized it instantly.

"He took it from the plant—he kept it—now he's thrown it away." She ran back to her room, threw herself on the bed. "I never want to see him, or that doorknob again," she sobbed. "Never!"

But she took time to hunt up the youngsters and buy the doorknob for a dollar before she left the lake.

MIKE FLYNN paced the length of his office, turned, faced Kay.

"Now stop your worrying, Katie girl," he said tenderly. "The lad will see this ad and come a-running. He should be telephoning any minute now." He bit down fiercely on a stub of a cigar, resumed his pacing. "The young idiot!"

"Ted's no idiot!" Kay defended. "It was all my fault. He must have seen me kiss Joe, and then he thought—"

"So what?" Flynn demanded. "If a girl loved me like you love this—this—I'd be willing to fight for her. I wouldn't let any college professor run away with my girl."

"I never told Ted I loved him. I wanted everything to be strictly business—I've made him think I care for Joe—"

The telephone jangled. Both grabbed for it. Mike took the call. It wasn't Ted. It was Mary.

"We're postponing the wedding," she said. "Joe is taking a leave of absence until you locate Ted. We'll arrive on the afternoon plane."

THERE were no clues. Ted had simply dropped out of sight. The telegrapher at Lake Olivara had sold him a ticket to Chicago, but there the trail ended. Mike hired private detectives, even notified the police, but Ted could not be found.

To Kay, the days and nights were torture. She recalled everything Ted had said. That kiss at the plant, when Wondrosoap was their big dream.

She couldn't even go back to the plant to recapture any memories. A high steel fence surrounded the factory now; soldiers guarded the gate. She didn't have a single can of Wondrosoap. All she had was a shining doorknob.

Joe and Mary tried to find new interests for her to help her forget Ted and failed utterly. Kay pretended to enjoy the parties and dinners they arranged, but the foursome was not the same without Ted. All the fun was gone.

Then the telegram came.

It was brief, to the point: "Saw your ad in hometown paper. Am okay. Uncle Sam's Army turned me down. Bum ticker. Maybe Canada can use me." It was signed "Ted."

"He might at least have added 'Love,'" Flynn grumbled. "Wouldn't have cost him much." "If he goes to Canada—where will he cross the border?" Kay asked.

"Any place in a couple of thousand miles," Flynn snorted. "But he'll probably go either to Detroit or Niagara Falls. Joe, you and Mary try Detroit. Kay, we'll take the plane to Buffalo."

THE big airliner seemed to crawl through the air. Kay's thoughts raced ahead. What if they were too late? What if Ted had already enlisted? She would wait, she knew, always. What if—

The stewardess tapped her shoulder. "Fasten your safety belt, please, we're landing." Mike hurried the remaining miles to Niagara, installed Kay in a hotel.

"We'll check in at the recruiting office first. Ask them to notify all other offices. Don't fret, Katie, we'll find the boy."

She made Mike go alone. Something—a hunch, perhaps—kept her from going with him. She walked from the hotel to the Falls. Even Niagara's magnificence left her unmoved.

Honeymooners come here, she thought. Happy brides and grooms. She was alone. She sat on a park bench. Across the walk a man glanced at her. He would speak to her in a minute, if she didn't stop staring. She picked up a newspaper, but she couldn't read the headlines.

She did not see him come down the walk, didn't notice him sit at the far end of the bench. The man across the walk shuffled his feet. Kay looked up.

"TED!" His arms were around her, his kisses on her lips.

"Ted! Why? Why did you leave?" she whispered.

He kissed her again. There would be time for explanations later.

The man across the walk left, abruptly.
